Business Manager Fears Slash in College Faculty

By BILL SHANDS

Copies of the governor's budget as it will affect SJS were received Friday and E. S. Thompson, college business manager, called the $3,855,627 given SJS "not a fair budget" and "definitely not in accordance with the state staffing formula."

"The budget," he went on, "is not even equitable for an enrollment of 6000 students." Although the total cut was only slightly more than $3,000, teachers' salaries, which are scheduled to be raised 5 per cent per year, will force a cut of 25 teachers from the staff, according to Thompson.

He saw "no justification" for the additional cutting of seven members off the clerical staff, and said that "the announced policy of the governor is to hold the line, not to expand or fall below the staff now employed."

Thompson, President John T. Wahlquist and Dean of Instruction Fred F. Harclerod will go to Sacramento Tuesday to discuss the budget with members of the State Department of Finance and the Department of Education.

Although the budget is made for an enrollment of 6000 students, he is "doubtful" that the legislature will increase the ceiling beyond 6000 students. The reason, Thompson said, is that "the State Department of Education is not pushing it."

During the Sacramento trip the business manager is "hoping to get Department of Education support for a more adequate instructional staff and get a revision in other categories."

The first copies of the budget did not include information as to building additions, but Thompson is "quite sure" that later information will include the construction of the Library completion and a boiler for SJS.

The budget total was $3,855,627, of which $3,330,425 will go for salaries. This is an increase of $16,218 for salaries. Operating expenses will be $413,407 and equipment, $111,795. The total administration funds will be $417,792; instruction, $2,784,893; and maintenance and operation, $438,491 out of the total $3,855,627.

The budget will be voted on by the legislature in March.

'Centennial Class' Discusses Finance

Reports on "money - making" projects to build up the treasury of the "Centennial Class" will top the discussion at today's meeting of the Freshman class at 3 p.m. in Morris Dailey auditorium.

'Women's Week' Starts Today; It's 'Service Day'

Darlene Clayton, president of the Associated Women Students on campus, has proclaimed today the beginning of "Women's Week."

A day by day calendar of events so that no women will miss any of the activities planned for the week has been planned.

"Service Day" has been chosen as today. Service projects carried on by women's organizations on campus will be displayed in the showcases in the Library. Posters, come. The program will commence at 4 p.m. and will last until 5:15 p.m. Prizes will be given in the relays to experienced and novice swimmers. Free swimming also will be offered.

On Friday, Feb. 12, the women "take over" the Spartan Daily. That is, they will write stories concerning AWS to put in the paper.

The annual "Jack of Hearts" dance is to be Saturday night, Feb. 13, at the Scottish Rite Temple auditorium. Bob Russell and his orchestra will provide the music for the evening. The dance will be from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Girls ask their own date. A "Jack-of-Hearts" will be selected during the evening from the men students attending the dance.

"Women's Week" was started at San Jose State college about six years ago. AWS representatives at that time brought back ideas for the week from a national convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students.

DARLENE CLAYTON

pictures and charts will explain the different activities of the year, AWS sponsors announced.

Tomorrow has been called "Professional Day." Dr. Alice Dement, associate professor of psychology, will speak on "Women in the Professions." All students are invited by AWS to hear her speak in Room 24 at 4:30 p.m.

On Wednesday an all-knit fashion show will be held in the Engineering building, Room 118, at 4:30 p.m. Models will wear the knit dresses fashioned by Mrs. Antonio J. Franzi, formerly the owner of the Joanna Knit Shop in San Francisco.

Also, on this day, a non-denominational church service will be held in the chapel at 7:45 a.m. A program emphasizing the importance of unity will be given.

"Sportsmanship Day" is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 11. A water carnival, including a ballet, a diving exhibition and relays will be featured. All women students are invited to

Large Crowd Sees 'Anatol' Opening Night

Anatol and his six lovely "affairs" stepped from a huge red story book Friday night to unfold their tale to a near capacity crowd in the Little Theater.

The play, written by Arthur Schnitzler, tells the comically sad story of a young 19th century Viennese romco who consecutively loves and leaves six of his many young lady friends.

Richard Rizzo as Anatol believably portrays the debonair young man about town. No sooner does he fall in love than doubt enters his mind as to the faithfulness of his beloved. And then he is off to the arms of another.

Anatol gets good advice throughout the two hour and a half show from his faithful friend, Max, played by Robert Somerville.

Affair number one begins in Anatol's apartment when Hilda, Constance MacLean, comes to visit. He hypnotizes her to see if she really is true to him, but finds himself unable to ask the fatal question.

Next is Gabrielle, Nancy Widwas. She meets Anatol, her old love.

Announcements Will Be Displayed To Seniors Today

Three representatives from announcements companies will display their announcements at the senior class council meeting today at 3:30 p.m. in Room 24, according to Bill Hushaw, president.

Announcements will be chosen at that time.

Jim Walsh and Pat Snow are scheduled to report on their attempt to obtain Admiral Chester Nimitz as speaker for senior orientation classes, said Hushaw.

Dessert Party

Faculty members interested in attending the faculty-dessert party should contact their personal secretaries today, according to Mrs. Gladys Vogelman, assistant professor of art.

ALICE FEARN begins her reign as Theta Chi Dream Girl. Attendees are Sharon Jones and Marilyn Prince. The winners were crowned Saturday at the annual Dream Girl formal at the California Golf club.

Too Much—Too Little

A rather interesting problem was raised at the recent four-way council meeting. The Freshman class was in a quandary because it "had too many students and not enough activities." On the other hand, the Senior class moaned that it had too many activities and not enough students.

Everyone agreed that it was a problem OK, but they passed it over somewhat evasively, and decided that the cookies and punch waiting on the table were more important at the moment.

Later, the problem was aired in the Student Council. That's where it ended, after creating a minor chuckle from the school politicians.

Even though the subject has been mothballed temporarily, or ash-canned, whichever the case may be, there is only one solution.

All they have to do is take the old seniors, "who never die, they just fade away," and inject a little of that freshman enthusiasm into their veins.

And the freshmen? They don't even have a problem.

Budget Strangulation

The Governor's Budget, which was released officially Friday, is definitely unfair to San Jose State college. It limits our teaching staff, strangling us where we are the most vulnerable.

Right now the work load on the average SJS teacher is tremendous. We haven't enough teachers as it is and if the Governor's Budget passes the legislature in its present form, where will our teachers be? Not only will they be forced to take on extra burdens, but some will face the possible loss of their jobs.

The whole budget is patterned for a college that is falling off in enrollment, not increasing. These are days of expansion, not contraction.

The governor and the finance department of the state are looking in the wrong place to cut expenses.

It is also disheartening to discover that the finance department, after pushing an increase of 87 per cent in student fees, also is trying to make up for deficits by methodically cutting our budget.

IFC Will Discuss Admission of KTS, Constitution Revision Wednesday

Discussion on admitting Kappa Tau to the Inter-Fraternity Council and a revision of the constitution will be the main questions concerning the IFC when it meets Wednesday at the Sigma Pi house, according to Ken Mitchell, IFC president.

At the last IFC meeting, Mitchell, Lambda Chi Alpha, was elected IFC president with Bob Goforth of Delta Upsilon, vice president; Fred Pitts, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, secretary; and Orv Butts, Delta Sigma Pi, treasurer. IFC offices are rotated every four months, according to "Bucky" Levin, outgoing president.

Plans for the Feb. 27 Inter-Fraternity Formal also were discussed, according to Levin. The formal will be held at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco and will feature Murray Peterson's orchestra. Bids will be distributed at an IFC meeting in about two weeks, Levin said.

The inter-fraternity bowling tournament will be held Feb. 26 at Bridgeman's bowling alley. All fraternities will have five-man teams entered in competition.

A Pan-Hellenic and IFC get-together also were discussed, according to Levin, but no definite plans were made.

Yates Extends Camp Deadline

The deadline for applications for Freshman Camp counselor has been extended to Wednesday, Sam Yates, director of the camp, has announced. The number of petitions received last week was insufficient, according to Yates.

Yates reported to the Student Council last week that the entire Aklomar grounds have been reserved for the camp Sept. 12-14. In planning for the annual camp, Yates anticipated a fall enrollment cut.

Thrust & Parry

Semester Defender

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Orchids to Messrs. Nill, Previte, and Thompson for their sterling defense of the quarter system. I hope I can answer them in as fine a fashion. I had two points in mind when I asked where the students would be without this school. Since the war there has been an astounding increase in the number of students with schoolroom facilities not keeping pace.

A quick survey of our own campus will show that. Therefore it is easier to find students nowadays than it is adequate space for them. Also, if SJS were to be suddenly obliterated from the face of the earth, a good number of us would have to go into hock to pay the higher tuitions demanded at other colleges. The "Wintermist feud" seems to point this up.

The administration certainly has been dealt a lot of abuse lately. If it can be proven that they acted incompetently, arbitrarily, and stupidly to make life easier for themselves at the expense of the students and the school, then a movement should be started to impeach them and replace them with honest men!

Frankly, I give the administrators more credit than that. They can see that the semester is going to be more beneficial for all concerned.

It is argued that the semester will ruin our teacher training program. How do those persons explain that some of the finest teachers colleges in the nation are run on the semester system? It is said that we'll have a more limited variety of courses.

Is this the fault of the semester, or is it because we don't have the money and the teachers needed? Anyone who knows anything about semester schools knows that those institutions don't suffer from a dearth of courses.

Practically all of the textbooks are written for semester use. More is gotten out of the courses because you're in them longer, which is a definite step toward a more liberal education. These overworked teachers, when they get their curriculums straightened out, are going to be much less "overworked." Less finals, fewer registration days, fewer books to buy—oh, happy day! State is to be congratulated for this progressive step.

Cash And Camera

Dear Thrust and Parry:

In the Campus Quirks of Friday, Feb. 5, there was a statement under Criminal Tendencies that was a little outdated.

The statement was made that "to cash any check, you've got to be finger-printed these days. The print is stapled to the back of the check. Next thing you know they'll have cameras set up to mug check cashers."

This action of taking pictures of check-cashers has been in practice in Oakland, Calif., for the past five years.

Glovers Blast Vandals To Win Fourth Straight

By BOB STRIEGEL

The unbeaten San Jose State boxers did it again. They hammered out a repeat triumph over the Idaho Vandals, 5 1/2-2 1/2, at Moscow, Idaho, Saturday night for their fourth dual meet victory of the season.

Coach Julie Menendez and his band of Spartans now will be gunning for the powerful Washington State Cougars who will face the local squad in Spartan gym Saturday, Feb. 13.

Against the Vandals Saturday night, the Golden Raiders came through with three decisions, one draw, one t.k.o. and a forfeit victory in the heavyweight class.

Idaho started off the scoring in the 125-lb. class as its Ray Ragan took the decision over the Spartans' Kim Kanaya.

Undeclared Joe Rodriguez of Sparta handed out a lot of punishment to the Vandals' Ralph Wadsworth in scoring an easy win in the 132-lb. division. The 139-lb.

match was a top attraction as San Jose's Vic Harris and the Vandals' Ron Titus battled to a draw.

One of Menendez's big guns, Dick Bender, 156 lb., showed his supremacy as he stopped Idaho's Jerry Manderville in 1:30 of the third round by referee's decision.

A very game John Freitas, 147 lb., lasted the three full rounds in losing to Lynn Nichols, the Vandals' 1953 Pacific Coast Intercollegiate kingpin.

Tom Stern, 165 lb., and Danny Hayes, 178, also won matches for the Spartans over Idaho boxers.

SPARTAN DAILY 3

Spartan Cagers Surprise Tall Pacific Five, 63-48

Coming from behind on the strength of a ten-point scoring spree in the third quarter, the Spartan cagers went on to win their first contest of the season in California Basketball Association play Saturday night as they tripped the second place COP Tigers, 63-48, in the home gym.

It was the second straight win for the Spartans after ending an eight game losing streak Thursday against Loyola.

San Jose State trailed most of the way but forged into the lead midway in the third stanza when they netted ten straight points while holding the visitors scoreless.

Pacific led at intermission, 24-21, and enjoyed a slim 3-point lead when the roof caved in.

Spartan senior forward Bob Steinbach was mainly responsible for starting the fireworks when he pushed through a shot from the side and dropped in a free throw awarded him on the play. That made it 33-33. Gaining possession of the casaba again, Steinbach hit from 25-feet out and was given another shot from the charity line which he made count.

Yosh Uchida Gets Annual Champions Dinner Nomination

San Jose State's judo coach, Yosh Uchida, has been nominated for the college-coach division of the Eighth Annual Banquet of Champions at which the outstanding 1953 sports figures of Santa Clara county will be named Monday night, Feb. 15, at the Hawaiian Gardens.

Along with Uchida, his ace judoist and national AAU champion, Lyle Hunt, received a nomination in the open class division.

Mike Guerrero, the Spartans' 1953 125-lb. NCAA champion, who is now in the Army, was nominated in the boxing division.

Other San Jose State athletes, getting nominations were Larry Matthews, halfback on the grid squad, and Lang Stanley, NCAA 880-yd. champ, was selected in the track and field class.

SJS Matmen Break Even; WSC Proves Too Powerful

By BOB SMITH

Registration Opens Here for Novice Mat Tournament

Registration for the sixth annual All-College Novice Wrestling tournament is under way.

The three-day tourney, billed for Spartan gym Feb. 22, 24 and 25, will be open to all individuals except for those having lettered on the mats in high school or college.

Winners in each weight division will be presented with gold intramural medals. Trophies will be given to the winning team and to the outstanding wrestler of the tourney.

The following weights will be contested: 123 pounds, 130, 137, 147, 157, 167, 177, 191 and 210 limit for heavyweights.

NCAA college rules will be used to govern the matches, according to Coach Hugh Mumby.

Deadline for entries and weighing is 5 p.m. Feb. 22.

San Jose's grappling wrestlers ran up against one of the top mat teams in the country Friday night in the local gym and were handed a stunning 31-3 defeat after overpowering an Alameda Naval Air Station squad, 28-8, earlier in the day in part of a four-way dual meet mat doubleheader.

The Spartans were handled roughly in their second appearance of the day by a big, fast Washington State Cougar outfit from Pullman, which took full advantage of three Pacific Coast Intercollegiate champs, Rich Gibson, Byron Nelson and Del McGhee.

The Cougars, in beating the Raiders, won their sixth straight decision of the season and their 16th match without a defeat. Washington dealt the Stanford Indians their second loss of the year in the afternoon as they also whipped the Palo Altans, 31-3.

The Spartan's PCI champ Dick Francis was the only local member to score in the Cougar dual. Francis, after losing his second match of the campaign in the afternoon competition, gained a decision over WSC's Joe Hoyt in the 177-lb. class.

In the other contest of the affair, Stanford was able to sneak past the air station group, 16-15.

Against Alameda, SJS registered five falls and one decision to win their fourth victory. Kay Toyota, George Lao, Ron Stingley, Russ Utley and Dick Fleeger were winners on pins. Francis has lost twice now and, oddly enough, to the same man both times.

ANAS' Bernie Slate defeated the Spartan in Alameda three weeks back. Both wins have been non-collegiate victories.

Riflemen Hit Again

San Jose State's varsity rifle team downed Santa Clara's Broncos, 1390-1367, on the loser's range Thursday. Sgt. Patrick Whalen, rifle team coach, announced.

Kaye Tomlin was high man for San Jose with 284 out of a possible 300.

What, No Captain?

The policy-making body of the Spartan track team Board of Commissioners, has been named for 1954.

Selected were Don Hubbard, distance; Jack Albani, sprints; Ed Kreyenhagen, hurdles; Taylor Burton, throws; and Owen Rhodes, jumps.

Intramural Hoop Games Tonight

Play in the intramural basketball hoop resumes tonight in the Men's gym at 7 o'clock.

The Varsity House five and the KKK open play with the Royal Hawaiians and the Collegians battling at the same time.

At 8 o'clock Phi Epsilon Kappa meets Alpha Phi Omega and the Westwood Apartments clash with the San Jose Lakers.

In the final matches of the night, 101 Manor and the Wetbacks are slated to meet at 9 o'clock as are the Shebas and the Student Y.

Warren Sponsors SJS-COP Debate

Earl Warren, chief justice of the United States Supreme Court, recently consented to sponsor the annual San Jose State-College of Pacific debate to be held sometime in May, according to Dr. Lawrence Mouat, forensics director.

Dr. John T. Wahlquist received the following letter from the chief justice:

"Dear Doctor,
"Thanks for your letter of January 22nd.

"I will be honored to have my name used in connection with your debates. My regret is that I cannot be present to hear them, but the travel time involved makes it impossible.

"With best wishes to you and your associates, I am
Sincerely,

Earl Warren."

Race segregation in public schools is the suggested topic of the debate.

Council Discusses Plans for Prom

Reports by the various committees working on the Junior Prom are to be the main topics of business at today's meeting of the Junior Class council in Room 127 at 3:30 p.m., according to Paul Sakamoto, Junior class president.

The biggest decision remaining seems to be the selection of a band, Sakamoto said.

'Student Papers' Subject at Meet

"Correction of Student Papers" will be discussed at a regional conference of the California Assn. of English Teachers Feb. 27 on campus, according to Dr. H. C. Meckel, professor of English.

William Dusel will be the speaker, and Dr. James Brown will demonstrate and discuss resources for film appreciation. Dr. Paul Roberts, professor of English, who recently published a grammar book, will speak on grammar and writing.

Students planning to become teachers at the secondary and elementary levels are invited to attend, according to Dr. Meckel, a member of the planning committee and in charge of rooms and facilities for the conference.

Vets Attendance

California veterans who have not signed attendance vouchers for February are requested to come to the Accounting office, Room 34, and fill out one for this month, according to an Accounting office release.

Soph Council Discusses Doll Contest Today

Faculty show plans and further discussion of the Soph Doll contest will be discussed at the meeting of the Soph class council today in Room 117 at 3:30 p.m., according to Don Fletcher, soph president.

Invitations will be sent to all major campus living groups asking them to sponsor a Soph Doll to compete in the SJS contest. Winner of the campus contest will compete at Berkeley with winners from six other Northern California colleges.

Rules of the SJS contest, according to Fletcher are that the girl must be a Sophomore and must not have won a major campus queen contest. Judging will be on the basis of poise, personality, figure and looks.

"We would like all sophomores to come to the meeting," stated Fletcher. "Show everyone that the Sophomore class hasn't faded away."

Council Releases Chairmen Posts

Applications for Recognition Day and Homecoming chairmen were opened at the last meeting of the Student Council. Applicants should be familiar with the work of the committees, ASB President John Aitken said.

Eight members of the committee were present to discuss current projects. No cases appeared before the group.

Large Crowd Sees 'Anatol'

er, while Christmas shopping and they briefly discuss old times.

Scene three shows Bianca, Helen Nikkel, another old affairs. But here the tables are turned and it is Bianca who scorns the surprised Anatol.

Elsa, played by Donna Wegner, sneaks to Anatol's apartment where they both falsely declare their love for each other.

A Viennese cafe is the setting for Mimi, Sylvia Crone. While eating what she says will be her last oysters, champagne and wine, Mimi tells Anatol how she is giving him up for another.

The last affair finds Anatol on his wedding day with another woman, Lona, Lorraine Cazenave. As the final curtain falls, Anatol has resignedly left for his marriage and Lona is bitterly plotting her revenge.

Friday night audiences got an added treat when John Kerr, director, played the part of the waiter, because of cast illness.

A tight mouthed Kenneth Rugg was also very convincing as Anatol's butler, Franz.
